Reading Milestones

Children do not become great readers overnight. Introducing children to books and reading as young as infancy will help them to learn to love and appreciate reading as they get older.

Quality childcare centers, pre-kindergarten programs, and homes full of language and book reading can build an environment for reading milestones to happen.

Here are common reading milestones for children. Keep in mind however, that all children develop differently and at their own pace

Infancy (Up to Age 1)

Children usually begin to:

- imitate sounds they hear in language
- respond when spoken to
- look at pictures
- reach for books and turn the pages with help

Toddlers (Ages 1-3)

- Answer questions about and identify objects in books such as "Where's the cow?" or "What does the cow say?"
- Name familiar pictures
- Use pointing to identify names objects
- Pretend to read books
- Turn pages of board books
- Have a favorite book and request to read it often.

Early Preschool (Age 3)

- Explore books independently
- Listen to longer books that are read aloud
- Retell a familiar story
- Recite the alphabet
- Begin to sing alphabet songs with prompting and cues
- Make continuous symbols that resemble writing

Late Preschool (Age 4)

- Recognize familiar signs and labels, especially on signs and containers
- Make up rhymes or silly phrases
- Recognize and write some of the letters of the alphabet
- Read and write their names
- Name beginning letters or sounds of words
- Match some letters to their sounds
- Use familiar letters to try writing words
- Understand that print is read from left to right, top to bottom.

YOU ARE A TEACHER, TOO!

"Whose child is this?" I asked one day
Seeing a little one out at play
"Mine", said the parent with a tender smile
"Mine to keep a little while
To bathe his hands and comb his hair
To tell him what he is to wear
To prepare him that he may always be good
And each day do the things he should"

"Whose child is this?" I asked again
As the door opened and someone came in
"Mine", said the teacher with the same tender smile
"Mine, to keep just for a little while
To teach him how to be gentle and kind
To train and direct his dear little mind
To help him live by every rule
And get the best he can from school"

"Whose child is this?" I ask once more
Just as the little one entered the door
"Ours" said the parent and the teacher as they smiled
And each took the hand of the little child
